ACCREDITATION

Accreditation is a process by which an impartial organization will review a company's operations to ensure that the company is conducting business in a manner consistent with national standards.

URAC's accreditation process consists of a review of policies and procedures and an onsite visit to the applicant organization to determine that it is, in fact, operating according to its stated policies.

STANDARDS

The URAC standards are developed by a committee of experts representing diverse interests in the healthcare community; providers, healthcare organizations, insurers and the public interest.
